

PR release for Swedish Beer festival website

We are delighted to announce two new exhibitors from England at this years' festival.

Brewlab is a leading provider of training and analysis services for the international brewing industry. Brewlab was established in 1986 and since 1992 its work has been validated by the University of Sunderland in North East England where it is now based.

Brewlab specialises in the micro brewery sector. The range of training courses it offers are relevant to both the first time brewer through to the professional who is looking to keep their skills and knowledge updated. The courses are focused on providing real practical skills as well as the back up of the latest theory.

The analysis services are very comprehensive and include topics such as determining the alcohol level of beer through to yeast storage, culturing and handling.

They will be offering a range of interesting one hour lectures we are calling 'Beer School 3' throughout the duration of the festival. The subjects covered will be of interest to all those involved in our brewing industry. This will include topics such as malt tasting and yeast fermentation.

This is your chance to meet these experts from England at our very cost effective lectures.

You can find out more about Brewlab by visiting www.brewlab.co.uk

Darwin Brewery, the sister company of Brewlab, can be found on the same stand.

This is a 10 barrel micro brewery also based in Sunderland. It is operated by the same group of professionals who conduct the courses at Brewlab.

Darwin Brewery will be offering an exciting range of bottle and cask beers for sale including their two award winning varieties, Rolling Hitch and Flag Porter.

This is the first time these beers have been available to the Swedish public and we are anticipating a lot of satisfied customers so make sure you get there early!
